in store for some unhappiness. Those, however, who look forward to progress, development and evolution in all aspects of life will be thrilled with the potential at this time; the willing and easygoing will succeed this week.

This week may see one or two promises broken, but the fact is that they were made so long ago that the circumstances surrounding them no longer exist, making them moot at best. No one is likely to remember what was said or not said, and it's best to let sleeping dogs lie.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 5) — Cowardice is not for you this week; you'll want to be more courageous than ever as you face what you thought was unimaginable. (March 6-March 20) — Someone close to you will want things clarified early on so later in the week all can go quite smoothly.

ARIES (March 21-April 4) — Watch the clock during the first few days of the week. Once you reach your stride, you'll be able to settle down and be less uptight. (April 5-April 19) — Others are likely to gravitate toward you all week long, though you may not know exactly why.

EDITORIAL

All This Stuff!

What in the world is going on? Is it because we are approaching the 21st century that we're being bombarded with all this stuff!

True or not, the president of the United States is leading us in a high profile scandal.*

Criminals by the dozens seem to be coming up with the idea that they can outrun the police.*

Young mothers and their boyfriends are putting 2 and 3-year-old children in tubs of ice cold water to teach them a lesson.*

Preachers and teachers are telling their congregations- and students one thing...and they generally are doing the opposite.*

....and then there's Saddam acting a fool again and threatening to kill us all.*

All This Stuff! What in the world is going on?

Say 'Hi'

What does it cost a person to speak when passing? Judging from the way some of us act in this community, you would think the cost would be in the thousands' of dollars.

For years, we have observed the behavior. Rather than look a person in the eye when passing and flash a smile and say "Hi," many of us would rather look the other way with an unpleasant look.

We like to urge our readers to say Hi.

position in our June class of 1998. We're providing the intensive technical training and application knowledge required to succeed in a software development role. The three months of training will be held at our Atlanta Corporate Headquarters.

As a candidate for Consultec's Apprentice Programmer Training Program (CAP), you'll need to possess a BS/BA in CS, CIS or MIS. We'll consider other degrees with at least two programming courses. The successful candidate will possess strong communication skills and the capability for problem solving. The ability to meet additional requirements is essential.

For immediate consideration, please contact Career Planning & Placement Services to sign up for an on-campus interview with us on Wednesday, February 25th. Also, please attend our information session on Tuesday, February 24th at 6pm. For more information about Consultec, visit our website at www.consultec-inc.com.

YOUR STARS

By Stella Wilder

The coming week will very likely present an excellent opportunity for looking back and assessing progress made to this point in 1998. This week will also offer a chance to rethink current plans and to change course if necessary to ensure a greater professional or personal payoff when the time comes. This is a week in which potential itself will have a higher value than usual, for anticipation of great things can serve as a tremendous motivator; those who recognize potential for what it is — opportunity in a more subtle guise — can start making something big happen almost immediately.

There may be some difficulties encountered this week when relationship issues clash directly with professional ones. The solution, of course, lies in acknowledging what is most important — a job or a person — and with that choice will come a wealth of answers that can elevate one to a higher level.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 3) — You may meet someone this week who has you flying high for days, only to realize that it was your own imagination that set you off. (Feb. 4-Feb. 18) — What looks bleak as the week opens can prove to be quite beneficial when all is

STELLA WILDER
YOUR S

By Stella Wilder

The coming week will see man individuals scurrying about, mak ing hasty preparations for som big change that is looming on th horizon. The mistake most peopl will make is that the reports of a coming shift — be it personal, pro fessional, spiritual, emotional or merely a move from one place to another — have been greatly ex aggerated, and are still! The truth is that perception alone is the motivating activity this week, and those who are wise will take a moment to assess the facts without becoming emotional about how things appear.

Of course, change is constant, but the extent to which things differ from day to day or year to year can be controlled to a certain degree, and this is a good week to exert just such control over the world at large. It is the wise individual who knows that it's time to do what he or she can!

ARIES (March 21-April 4) — You know the difference between seems and is, and yet you may be powerless to keep others from reacting in an overly dramatic fashion. (April 5-April 19) — What you see on the horizon looks pleasing to you, but those around you may prove doubtful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 5) — You are entrusting more than you think to someone who may not be ready to take on such a responsibility. Think twice before making a commitment. (May 6-May 20) — There is no room for fear this week; it's important that you move ahead with an aggressive attitude.

The coming week is very likely to see the majority of individuals finding answers to questions asked quite some time ago, as if the pieces to a variety of complex puzzles were somehow, perhaps magically, dropped into place at just the right time. Indeed, for some the timing this week could not be better; the fact that so much is making sense right now, and not a week earlier or a week later, will prove a key ingredient in the success of this phase. All will learn, too, that it is not so much the answer that counts, but the question — for unless one looks in the right place, he or she cannot find what is being sought.

With the passage of doubt, frustration and confusion will come an increase in personal power. For many, self-confidence is likely to go through the roof! All week long, a sense of well-being and capability is sure to grow in leaps and bounds. This can prove the beginning of a most productive phase.

ARIES (March 21-April 4) — With one third of the year already a memory, it's a good week to examine things through the most objective lens possible. (April 5-April 19) — You may have reason to move away from current alliances and explore new attachments this week.

TAURUS (April 20-May 5) — You are in need of a single piece of information that someone you've lost touch with may be able to supply. Make contact this week. (May 6-May 20) — You may not be able to have everything you want by week's end, but you can be well on

April Is National STD Awareness Month

April is National STD Awareness Month and this year, the American Social Health Association (ASHA) is urging people to break the silence about one of the most common, yet least discussed sexually transmitted diseases, human papillomavirus (HPV).

During April, ASHA will offer a free brochure, "A Practical Guide for the Tongue-Tied:

Thank you for the opportunity to promote public broadcasting careers at BCR's Annual Convention. BCR's enthusiasm and energy were greatly appreciated not only by me, but also by the public broadcasting representatives. Numerous students mentioned that they found the session, "For Your First Job" to be informative and encouraging Your assistance promoting public broadcasting has helped spark an interest for careers in public radio and television. Thanks BCR!

Networking

While I was a college student at North Carolina Central, I attended some of the Black College Radio Conventions, and made some valuable contacts which actually led to my present position. I found the networking possibilities to be great at these Conventions

I am probably the youngest A&R director in the industry and I owe it all to BCR...

Thanks BCR!
